Hatters Beat Grands 6-4

Two Goals Down, Locals Face Tough Task Next Saturday At Medicine Hat.

Medicine Hat Monarchs upset the Coleman Grands 6-4 at the Coleman Arena on Saturday night to take a two goal lead back to the 'Hat for next Saturday night's wind-up of the home and home series. The Monarchs sailed away the decision in the first period by outskating the locals, 3-0. Dorothy, with a brace and starting netted for the visitors, the latter also picking up an assist on Dorothy's second marker. Berthelett and Dorothy, both Monarchs, served penalties.

Coleman fought back savagely in the second to hold the Hatters scoreless while Silvers on a pass from Roughhead cut the Monarchs' lead to 3-1. Five penalties were handed out during the rugged stanza, Cherry, Frew and Ford served minor terms for the Grands while Dorothy was the star of the show for both Monarch banishments.

The squads battled it out tooth and nail in the hectic final can't to with the Monarchs matching the hard hitting Coleman lines goal for goal. Soroff from Beigun; Silvers from Roughhead and Roughhead from Pavius sagged the help for the homeites while Tennant from Starling, Starling from Murray and Tennant from Dorothy were the Hat pointgetters. Penalties were dishied out to Cherry, of Coleman and Hall and Dorothy of the Monarchs. George Jenkins and Bill Field, both of Coleman, were the arbiters.

Benefit Smoker Well Attended

Close to 200 Attended Benefit Smoker For Steve Ryplen at Polish Hall.

Nearly 200 persons crowded the Polish hall on Friday evening last to attend the benefit smoker staged on behalf of Steve Ryplen. Adam Wilson acted as chairman for the evening with Ed. Churla as his deputy. Father Sullivan conveyed the gathering's best wishes to Mr. Ryplen and in the course of his remarks expressed the heartfelt hopes of Mr. Ryplen's many friends that he would be restored to normal health and activity in the very near future.

Several Pass artists had signified their intention to be present at the concert but due to the severe weather conditions they were unable to attend. Despite this unfortunate disruption of the planned program, the Polish Veterans Chorus and Pete Merion's banjo did yeoman service throughout the entire evening.

A dance followed the concert and several spot prizes were awarded to the lucky couples involved. In the course of the evening, a case of "pop", nylons and men's socks were auctioned off to the highest bidder.

Sentinel Motorists Miraculous Escape

Auto Overtakes Three Times In 200 Feet Plunge Off Highway West of Coleman. No Serious Injuries.

An automobile, owned and driven by Mr. O. Bowen, of the Sentinel Power Plant, plunged off the road at the second bend west of Carbondale on Friday afternoon last, and after overturning three times came to rest in the gully 200 feet below. By some miraculous intervention not one of the car's three occupants were seriously injured although badly shaken.

In the car with Mr. Bowen, was his wife and a Mr. Stevenson, also of Sentinel. The damage to the car, which was brought in to a Coleman garage, was extensive. According to Mr. Bowen, the accident occurred as he was travelling west of Carbondale and his vision of the road ahead was obscured by drifting snow.

It has since been learned a Mrs. McNight of Calgary was in the car.

Sam Sagoff all set to wager against the local gag man who claimed "it wouldn't snow for six weeks"—and Sam hurriedly putting the "filthy stuff" back in his wallet when Irvin Frew explained the exact meaning of the statement.

Bituminous Operators and Miners Sign New Agreement; Community Greet Settlement With Satisfaction

Both Factions Seem Gratified at Peaceful Settlement of Dispute

A wave of satisfaction swept through Coleman and other Pass towns late on Monday evening of this week when the news was broadcast that the Bituminous operators and District 18 had come to an agreement on the contract for the coming year. The average Coleman miner, in particular, seemed to be completely satisfied with the final results of the long drawn out negotiations. A veteran contract miner appeared to be voicing the reactions of the majority when he remarked to the Journal, "There wasn't any law in this year's dispute worth striking for. I could smell a settlement coming three weeks ago. You can feel a strike in the air. It just wasn't there this year."

A prominent business man contacted by the Journal remarked, "The signing of the agreement will remove the 'Iron Blanket' of apprehension that has covered normal activities, both in the social and business life of the community."

BITUMINOUS MINES TO INCREASE LEVY FOR WELFARE FUND

With one slight variation, the Western Canada Bituminous Coal Operators' Association on Monday reached an agreement with the United Mine Workers of America, District 18, like that signed last week by the Domestic Coal Operators' Association.

The agreement affects 5,500 miners in Alberta and British Columbia and settles a dispute which opened Jan. 6 and has been dead-locked for some weeks.

Under this new agreement, the Bituminous Coal Operators will agree to increase their contribution to the welfare and retirement fund from five cents to 15 cents a ton, as did the Domestic Coal Operators last week.

No Flat Rate But the Bituminous Operators have not followed the Domestic Operators in incorporating the flat rate portion of contract miners wages with the contract.

Elks Crush Traders; Lime Works Trim Legion

Last Sunday afternoon's game in the Commercial League provided the most stirring contests seen in the loop this year. Fine weather drew a nice crowd of Commercial League fans to the Arena and they were rewarded by some of the most rugged puckhandling seen on local ice for a long time. The Board of Trade were short-handed for their tilt with the Elks and the Brother Bills took advantage of the badly overworked Merchants to really pour it on.

Having received a strong letter from Elkhart, Indiana over his conduct the week before when he ducked into the near centrally heated dugout and left the Elks coachless in their bitter battle with the Vets, Jack Rushton stayed on the job this time and the way he handled his Elks was nothing short of mastery. Irvin Frew would do well to take a few pointers from "Happy Day" Rushton.

Rushton's Rascals took a fiendish delight in pushing over the dog-tried Traders in the closing canto. Most of the Cash and Credit brigade played the sixty minute route and Iron Men such as Nicky Nicholas and Ken Ross were tripping over their own tongues and "Steamer" Kwasey was near the dropping point as the game ended.

The feature event of the afternoon was Summit Lime Works versus Morris Drew's Larrupping Legionaires. Studded with some nifty stickhandling Asahis, the Lime-Eaters jumped into an early lead and maintained it all the way to the wire. Dan "Dump Em" Daly and Bill "Put the Beef to Em" Troitz made desperate attempts to slow up the Summit speedsters throughout the battle and enjoyed some measure of success. As a matter of fact there were times when the Arena looked like Hiroshima, ten minutes after the Atom Bomb had landed.

The Elks Traders and Legionaires littered the ice following some of the most spectacular collisions seen in the Arena since the days when "Swede" Johnson and Duke Kwasey used to meet the opposition head-on.

We counted seven prostrate figures on the ice following one of the many wild melees that kept the fans roaring throughout. A couple of near-riots developed in the closing stages as the Vets threw everything they had into the puckchasing brawl in a furious effort to pull the game out of the fire but the Lime smokescreen thrown up by the opposition was too thick for penetration. Murray Fleming raced in time after time but the Summit net-minder out-guessed him enough times to keep the lead for his club.

Coach Drew ate a dozen lumps of the hectic affray while in a state of over excitement. The final score was 6-3 for the "Amazing Asahis". Drew has ordered five practise sessions a day for the Vets. He made a gallant effort to have the practise held in the Arena but was over-ruled by a majority vote who wanted practises held as usual in the No. 9 clubrooms.

SIDELIGHTS FROM THE ARENA

Last Sunday's double-header may have been the last of the season in Coleman's Commercial League, according to one of the loop's underpaid officials. Pressed for further particulars he blurted out the following, "We couldn't carry on much longer—some of the teams actually had players who could skate from one end of the rink to the other without falling. Our customers were starting to complain."

The League officials are now working on the final standings; it may be necessary to split the championship prize three ways as "Happy Day" Rushton, "Wet Goods" Drew and "Dry Goods" Nicholas are each claiming the title. We suggest a play-off game with the Coleman Grandettes to decide Coleman's representative in the July 9 Rodéo Parade's "Wagon of Honor".

"Furious Freddie" Lloyd, was really in there pitching for the Legion in their titanic struggle with the Lime-Eaters. Freddie, who learned to skate on the Liverpool-Manchester Ship Canal—with the aid of a "Mae-West" life preserver—was the only "War Groom" to see action in the Commercial Loop.

Bobby "The Bullet" Lloyd was excused from duty by Coach Drew due to the fact that he had a touch night as doorman at the Legion the preceding pip-emma.

Sid Shroth was in the Legion rosters section and more than once we spotted "hard pressed" Maurice "The Bull" Cooke, casting speculative glances in Sid's direction.

Of course, the Legion's downfall was directly caused by the continued absence of Maurice "The Bull" Cooke. Maurice is not yet quite back to normal following a recent bout with flu. One can only blanch with horror at the thought of what might have occurred if "Cannonball" Cooke had been turned loose among the Asahis.

Paging Conny Smythe! Shirley Nets Five!

Coleman Gals Trounce Bellevue Femmes 7-3 as Shirley Ondrik Goes on Scoring Rampage

Visions of future N.H.L. games featuring feminine stars flashed through the minds of spectators at the Bellevue Arena last week-end as Shirley Ondrik paced Coleman Grandettes to an easy 7-3 triumph over the Bellevue Hi-Girls. The Ondrik goal was in rare form as she flashed the red light on five occasions in the course of a spectacular goal-getting performance.

Playing her last game for Coleman prior to her departure for Medicine Hat Nursing school, Rina Rinaldi also displayed some neat puckhandling for the locals as she drove in Coleman's two other markers. Bellevue held the Grandettes to a 2-2 tie in the first but Ondrik, Rinaldi and Co. outclassed the homeites 5-2 in the middle session.

Bellevue netted their third goal in the final session but the Grandettes banged in another couple to coast home easy winners by a 7-3 margin.

Pass Hospital To Hold Election; Two Vacancies

Two Nominations Received From Bellevue And One From Hillcrest; Election Meeting Monday At Bellevue.

This year the terms of the two members representing local Improvement District No. 10 in the Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital Board expired. On Monday nominations were received from three candidates to fill the two vacancies, they being from the two retiring members, George Coupland of Bellevue, and A. Hollinghead, of Hillcrest. The third candidate is William W. Berry, of Bellevue.

A public meeting for the election of two members to fill the vacancies has been called for Monday, Feb. 28, in the I.O.O.F. hall, Bellevue, at 2:30 p.m. at which time all interested rate-payers in I.D. No. 10 will have the opportunity of asking questions from Board members present on matters of interest and listening to addresses made by the three candidates.

Following the addresses a vote will be taken by ballot and the two candidates having the greatest number of votes will be considered to have been duly elected to the Hospital Board.

The above voting procedure is foreign to the practice heretofore adopted in the Pass on all public voting but nevertheless it is in accordance with the Municipal Hospitals Act and the meeting's entire agenda is outlined by the Act.

Acclamation of office was given Coleman's representative Wm. J. White. Mr. White is an original member of the first permanent Board and while he may possibly not seek re-election 2 years hence he is assured the honor of being a Board member when the hospital is officially opened, presumably in March.

H. Carmichael Wins Cole Cup

Defeats Coleman's Jim Kerr Believ in Consolation Wind-Up.

The Pontiac-Studebaker-Cole conspiel came to an official close at the Bellevue Curling Arena on Sunday last as a large crowd of spectators saw Believ's veteran curling ace, Harvey Carmichael, brush aside two Coleman rinks to win the Spiel's coveted consolation prize.

In the first semi, Carmichael defeated the Tom Holstead quartette while Jim Kerr knocked out George Jenkins. The finalists then matched broom and rock in a stirring tussle for the trophy and the Blairmore rink came through after a close battle.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to extend my sincerest thanks to all those who supported the benefit concert, held recently, on my behalf and all others who contributed in any manner to the heartfelt encouragement I have received in the past few weeks. I would also like to thank, in particular, the committee who directed these most warmly appreciated gestures: J. Peisuk, W. Badzick, Bruno Silechok, J. Sproovich, H. Wiercinski, Ignatz Maciejowski, M. Huzaka, W. Bator, A. Wilson and N. Nicholas.

Appreciatively, Steve Ryplen.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

THE GOOD DEED

By ADDISON H. HALLCOCK

"I WISH he'd stop staring," Jane said to herself, sensing a feeling of hopelessness. As the bus stopped, Jane looked down at her book and tried to re-read the last paragraph on the page for the fifth time. How could she be expected to concentrate with a man in the aisle glaring at her? It was disconcerting. Especially when the man was so nice and masculine looking.

Surely he wasn't trying to flirt with her. Men weren't interested in an ordinary girl. She knew she looked prim and school-teacherish. Oh well, it couldn't be helped. She was done the best she could with the assets nature had given her. Her girl friends did tell her that her eyes were lovely, and that her whole face lit up when she smiled—but she wasn't smiling now. It would be rather silly, she thought, to smile when there was so little to smile about.

Jane stole a swift glance at the man again, and caught him eye just before he turned away. She closed her book with a bang, and looked across the stout woman sitting next to her by the window. People were hurrying home before the storm broke.

Why did the man stare so? She had never seen him before in her life. He seemed a trifle amused, too. What was the matter with her, anyway? Jane reached up. No, her hat wasn't over one ear. She did a hand beneath the seat. The seams of her stockings were in line. Perhaps she had a run—no, her searching fingers assured her that her stockings were intact. And her suit seemed immaculate.

The lady next to Jane folded her paper, murmured "excuse me" and squeezed by. Jane slid over to the window. She didn't turn when she felt someone take the place. Yes, it was he! You might know.

Suddenly she realized the next stop was hers. Closing her bag with a snap, she got to her feet. The man smiled and rose, moving out into the aisle to let her pass. She had a good look at him and thought she had never seen anyone so attractive.

Outside the air felt good after the stuffiness of the bus. "I beg your pardon," said a deep, pleasant voice, as Jane started along, "but I wonder if you would mind..."

Jane halted. "I would mind," she said, "and I'm afraid I don't..."

"Of course you don't know me," the man interrupted quickly with a chuckle—a warm, friendly chuckle. Jane thought—"My name is Hamilton—John Hamilton—and isn't it rather silly for us to stand here with a storm in prospect?"

"I have no intention of standing here," Jane replied, beginning to walk rapidly.

"I'm sorry I haven't an umbrella to share with you if it starts to rain," said Hamilton, matching his pace to hers, "but I'll be glad to find a cab."

Jane stopped abruptly. "Please, Mr. Hamilton, I'm not afraid of getting a little wet, and I'm not accustomed to riding in taxis with strange men!" She started on again.

"Look here, Miss whatever-your-name-is," he said, "I'm afraid you don't quite understand. I just wanted to..."

"Pick me up?"

He laughed. "No, I'm not trying to pick you up... I'm just playing boy scout."

"Boy scout?" The words slipped out of Jane's mouth before she could stop them. She couldn't talk to this man.

"Well, yes, in a way. You see," he said, "I'm just trying to do a good deed."

"Good deed?"

I seem to be repeating everything he says, thought Jane, but I can't seem to help myself.

"Yes," Hamilton went on, "you see... but first, must we walk so fast, and you do have a name, I suppose."

"Jane Wilson." My goodness Jane scolded herself, whatever in the world made me tell him my name. How awful!

"Jane is a nice name," Hamilton said, "I like it. In fact I like it so much that... well, can't we go somewhere where it's dry? Perhaps have a bite to eat? There's something I must tell you. I simply can't put it off any longer! Take pity on a fellow, won't you?"

Jane hesitated. Really! She should send this man away. Really should! What had come over her? "Well, she faltered, finally, 'There's a sort of room on the next block. I suppose we could stop in there.'"

As they walked along, Jane's mind was a jumble. She had never done a thing like this, yet, somehow, she had never been so happy. She knew she shouldn't be going to a tea shop with a man she had never met—such things were done—not by girls—well, girls like Jane. But she didn't seem to care... and it was fun.

When the waitress had taken their order, John took a large, clean handkerchief from his pocket and carefully unfolded it.

Jane watched, fascinated, not saying a word.

"Now for my good deed," John said. His blue eyes smiled into her brown ones as he leaned across the small table. "A nice girl like you shouldn't go out in public with a smudge on her cute little nose," he whispered.

"Oh," Jane exclaimed, startled. Then she laughed. "So that's what you were staring at?" She found her compact and peeked into the mirror. "Well, for heaven's sake, what are you waiting for... hurry, wipe it off!"

"I just couldn't bear it," John laughed, applying the handkerchief, "and yet I couldn't keep my eyes off it."

The girl came with chicken sandwiches and coffee, as John sat back in his chair. When she had gone, he reached under the table and squeezed the hand Jane held in her lap. "It's nice," he said, "to do a good deed for someone as nice as you."

Jane looked up at John and smiled. She didn't try to take her hand away. Somehow, John's hand seemed warm and comforting. The nurse you'll never know," she murmured. (Copyright Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate)

Leduc Oil Find Started "Revolution"

VANCOUVER—The Leduc oil field discovery well in February, 1947, started a revolution that has wrought the most important single change in the economic life of Canada.

C. O. Nickle, Calgary oil authority, speaking to Investment Dealers' Association and Vancouver Stock exchange members, outlined Alberta oil development and said the new Redwater field would probably rate among the top world oil discoveries of 1948.

"The good hunting" area for oil and gas covers a belt running from the American border north to the Arctic Ocean, he added. It takes in most of Alberta, a slice of northeast British Columbia, the Mackenzie River in the north, a big part of Saskatchewan and the southwestern corner of Manitoba.

"Another western area where sedimentary beds exist includes part of Vancouver Island and some of the mainland around Vancouver," said Mr. Nickle.

Western Canada, where less than 3,000 wells have been drilled to date and less than 1,000 of these wildcats, today has three major oil fields.

In addition, the search for oil has brought in discovery of natural gas reserves exceeding 5,000 billion cubic feet, of which less than a third has been produced.

It has brought Lloydminster a 30-million barrel reserve of heavy, mallee-thick oil, a reserve that could shape into a major field.

It has brought Pincher Creek a "wet gas" discovery in 1948 that could bring a major oil and gas reserve in 1949. It has brought Princes, Taber, Conrad, Vermilion, Wainwright and a number of other smaller oil reserves.

In recent weeks, it has brought oil strikes of still undetermined worth at Hanna and Craiguville.

Today, in Alberta more than 46 million acres of oil and gas rights are held under lease or reservation. In Saskatchewan, more than 12 million acres have been reserved for exploration.

In northeast British Columbia and southwest Manitoba, around five million acres are under commitment.

Today, the west has a 63 million acre oil play, far bigger than anything in the past but as yet, only a fraction of the potential oil country is being investigated.

During 1948, oil production climbed over 60 per cent., revving a 46 million barrel increase over 1947. Yield last year was about 12 million barrels. Production in 1949 will probably climb by several million barrels.

34,470 Migrate To Western Canada In 1948

Last year brought 125,414 immigrants to Canada. That's the largest number for any year since 1929, and almost twice as many as 1947, when 64,127 entered.

Where did they come from? What part of Canada did they settle in? Mines and Resources Minister James A. MacKinnon gave the following breakdown to Commons recently:

Of the 125,414 immigrants during 1948, 46,057 came from the British Isles, and 7,381 from the United States. Immigrants from northern European races numbered 16,957, including 10,168 Dutch. How To Get Quick Relief From Sore, Painful Piles

I can help you with your piles. I believe I can help you too if you want relief from the itching, soreness and burning pain of piles. My Hem-Roid treatment is different. Hem-Roid is an internal medicine—a small tablet taken with a glass of water. It cures the conditions (INFLAMMATION) in your body that cause such intense pile soreness and pain. But I'll be honest with you. Hem-Roid seems to help some pile sufferers more than others so I want to protect those who are not satisfied. I refuse to ask people to pay for something that does not help them as much as they expect it to. If Hem-Roid helps you, surely it is worth the small cost. Otherwise I want you to have your money back. I'll take your word. I find people are honest about such things. All I ask is you use Hem-Roid as directed for 10 days. Then if you are not satisfied return what you did not use and get your money back. This is an unusual offer but Hem-Roid is an unusual medicine. It has been sold on a refund promise for over 10 years. I am not asked to make many refunds so it must help most people who use it. At all drug stores.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Are you a self-starter?

Many employers have told me that the workers who earn promotions are those who show initiative. Likewise, among those who are "their own bosses", the self-starting type achieves greatest success.

Take Fred, for instance. When he finishes a job, he doesn't wait for someone to tell him what to do next. He goes and asks for another assignment. Or, if he already knows his routine, he plunges right in on the next job.

Bert shows his initiative by developing improved working methods, short cuts and new ideas for increasing business.

Both are going places. And both set excellent examples for the man who wants to get ahead.

But of course there is no limit to the number of ways in which we can demonstrate initiative. Almost everything we do, even in small details, challenges our resourcefulness.

Look for the challenges in your job—do your best to meet them—and you'll follow in the footsteps of the men who've made their mark.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

SCHOOL PATROLS AWAY TO GOOD START

The appearance of the School Patrol on Coleman intersections is a welcome sight to those who believe in practical training for our younger citizens. The ultimate outcome of this experiment will not be readily obvious to the elder average citizen but to the student of youth psychology the results will be satisfactorily apparent. The young patrol men are acquitting themselves with distinction on the corners and the children, whose lives the scheme is primarily designed to protect are fitting into the novel picture with a gratifying response to the regulating orders of their not much older schoolmates.

The promoters of the plan must indeed be reaping bushels of self-satisfaction over the initial success of their venture into this new field of juvenile development.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

Always pleased to get your paper with news of my home town. I expect to be leaving for Coleman about the 1st of March. I have had a most enjoyable visit with my relatives and friends. The weather has been lovely—very little cold weather. So when I arrive in Coleman, you'll be able to admire my Florida tan!

When in Toronto I saw two hockey games at the Maple Leaf Gardens; also saw part of Canada Packers plant, reported as the largest in the British Empire; took part in the big Xmas rush in the T. Eaton and Simpson's stores, corner of Bay and Young St. You sure have to watch your step!

Travelled to Kingston for two nice visits with Bob Emmerson. Bob is working in a big hardware store and doing fine. Got in some curling at Ottawa and saw the Scottish curlers perform at the Granite and Toronto Clubs. Also witnessed a six-team play-off for the Governor-General's trophy at Ottawa.

Took a run over to the Niagara Falls district and have just returned from a two-day trip to Buffalo. Will be going to Hamilton next week and hope to see Irene McLeod, now Mrs. Hawthorne. According to radio reports the weather has been tough in Alberta and here's hoping it has improved for my return trip to Coleman by car.

Yours faithfully,

J. H. Bouton,
R.R. 3 St. Catharines, Ont.

Dear Sir:

Please find enclosed our subscription to the weekly letter from home, "The Coleman Journal". We are all enjoying excellent health and trust the Journal staff are doing the same. The winter here in the Niagara Peninsula has been very mild, just a few days of cold and snow. Sometimes the winds make us think we are back in the Crow's Nest Pass.

We were very disappointed last year when we discovered that no one from the Journal was attending the convention at the General Brock in Niagara Falls. We also asked for Mr. Halliwell, of Macleod. When the Journal reported that the Harry Boutons were visiting St. Catharines, we phoned all the Boutons in the book but couldn't locate them. We would certainly appreciate a visit from anyone from Coleman at any time.

Yours sincerely,

Mrs. J. K. (Virginia) E. Petrunick

Brig. Mundy Speaks Here

Founder of S.A. Activities In Coleman Returns to Conduct Anniversary Service.

Brigadier T. H. Mundy, the Territorial Young People's Secretary for the Salvation Army in Canada, Newfoundland and Bermuda will be conducting the 34th Anniversary of the local Army Corps on Wednesday, March 2, with a public meeting being held in the I.O.O.F. hall, Coleman commencing at 8 p.m. The Brigadier is at present on a tour in British Columbia and is conducting Young People's Councils Sessions in many of the larger centres. He will be enroute to Macleod and Calgary during his one day stop-over in Coleman. The Lethbridge Salvation Army Band will also be present for the evening to assist with special music.

Brigadier Mundy entered the S.A. Training College in Toronto in 1914 from Brandon, Man. and was commissioned in April of 1915 with Capt. J. Acton to Coleman, Alta. The Brigadier was then Pro-Lieutenant, and remained for almost two years with Capt. Acton in Coleman and these two officers pioneered the work of the Army in the Crow's Nest Pass.

After a brief period in field work in Calgary, the then Capt.

Mundy was appointed to Headquarters work in Edmonton. In 1918 he was appointed as Priv. Secretary to the Commissioner in Winnipeg, and after this was Chief Side Officer at the S.A. Training College in Winnipeg. After a period of eight years, he was re-appointed as Private Secretary to the Commissioner for the whole of Canada.

Following this the Brigadier served as Divisional Commander for the Nova Scotia Division with headquarters at Halifax for 6 years, and then for three years, he rendered grateful service Overseas in charge of the S.A. War Services.

After his return from overseas, the Brigadier was appointed as Divisional Commander for the Manitoba Division with headquarters at Winnipeg, and for the past four years has had the oversight of the Young People's work for the Canadian Territory with headquarters at Toronto.

It will be noted with interest that last week the Brigadier was quite prominent in the current news. During a train wreck at Banff he rendered practical first aid treatment to many passengers and also conducted a song service in one of the coaches of the train which helped avert panic amongst passengers.

CANADA PRODUCES SOME OF THE WORLD'S FINEST LUMBER

Canada has almost unlimited timber. From British Columbia fir to Maritime spruce, few lumber is in demand throughout the world.

Why Seagram's sells Canada first

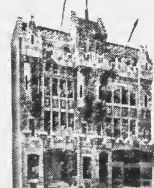

This is a campaign of one of a series of advertisements assigned by The House of Seagram to promote the prestige of Canada and help sell Canadian products to the markets of the world.

The campaign is appearing in magazines and newspapers published in various languages and circulated throughout the world. The peoples of many lands are told about the quality of Canadian products and see Canadian scenes illustrating these products.

The advertisements are in keeping with the belief of The House of Seagram that the future of each business enterprise in Canada is inextricably bound up in the future of Canada itself; and that it is in the interest of every Canadian manufacturer to help the sale of all Canadian products in foreign markets.

A campaign such as this not only helps Canadian industries but also puts money in the pocket of every Canadian citizen. One dollar of every three we earn comes to us as a result of foreign trade. The more we can sell abroad the more prosperous we will be at home. It is with this objective that these advertisements are being produced and published throughout the world.

Farm Credit

CREDIT IS AN IMPORTANT FACTOR in the operation of any business and often the need for funds to purchase new equipment, to extend property holdings or to introduce some new feature is vital to the success of an establishment. It has frequently been said that farmers have as great a need for satisfactory credit facilities at certain periods as have the operators of other types of businesses, but that they have not always been able to secure funds for carrying on their work as readily as have operators of other enterprises. For the past nineteen years the Canadian Farm Loan Board, a Dominion government agency, has loaned money to farmers for refinancing existing loans, to make improvements, erect buildings, purchase livestock and to pay operating expenses.

Trend Toward Large Farms

The maximum amount for a first mortgage under this plan is $5,000, and for a second mortgage, $1,000. These loans are repayable over a period of from five to twenty-five years by equal yearly or half yearly payments. Since 1929, Canadian farmers have borrowed $60,728,957 and of this amount $37,009,120 was repaid at the end of March, 1948, when the last report was made. At the present time, $22,500,000 is invested in farm mortgages of this type. One-third of the money now on loan has been used for buying additional farm land, while a few years ago, less than 10 per cent. of the loans were used for that purpose. This was taken to indicate a trend toward the establishment of larger farms, especially in the prairie provinces.

Amounts Are Not Large

While this plan has been of great assistance to many farmers, the amounts of the loans are not large, and many have had to seek credit from other sources. In a recent address given at the Farm and Home Week, held at the University of Saskatchewan, Professor H. Van Vleet, head of the farm management department, discussed some aspects of the problem of farm credit. He stressed the importance of using such credit wisely and carefully, but he also stated that the small amount of capital which is available to farmers has made farming less efficient than other industries. Lack of available credit, he said, had created a situation in which 85 per cent. of the total production is carried on by 50 per cent. of the farmers, showing that many farms are not producing efficiently. More credit, at cheaper rates, was suggested by Professor Van Vleet as a means of increasing production and of encouraging small farmers to own their own land and to increase the efficiency of their operations. In view of the importance of farming at present, when there is a world-wide shortage of food, and of the place which agriculture holds in our national economy, it would seem desirable that farmers should not be required to operate at a disadvantage in the matter of having access to facilities for necessary credit.

SCIENTISTS TRY TO PRODUCE RAIN, GET CLOUD INSTEAD

OTTAWA. — Even the scientists were "startled" the other day when they produced a huge artificial cloud during "operation raincoat" at the National Research Council's cloud research establishment at Amnirip.

An NRC official said they have been trying to make rain, not clouds, but suddenly a big cloud appeared.

"It only happens under very special conditions that clouds have been produced out of clear air," he said. "There is little likelihood of producing rain from that kind of cloud."

Pasteurized Milk Is Safe.

MAY ESTABLISH STANDARDIZATION OF SIZES IN CLOTHES

OTTAWA. — A housewife's complaint may find an answer in a proposed bill to establish standards for use of a national trade mark, the deputy minister of trade and commerce indicated.

"There is a real demand for standardization of sizes in children's clothes," M. W. Mackenzie told the senate banking committee. "Women don't like to go into one store and get, say, a size six dress which turns out to be something another store would consider size four."

It would be possible under the act to lay down an agreed set of size specifications.

PEG WANTS CELEBRATION COSTUME SUGGESTION

WINNIPEG. — Calgary has its tango hats and cowboy garb for Stampede week; what distinctive "look" will give Winnipeg its right anniversary week "atmosphere"? The organizing committee cannot decide. It has turned down handkerchiefs, moustaches, choker collars and bowler hats, now appeals to anyone with a bright idea to send it in.

Most of a horse's pulling power lies in his hind quarters.

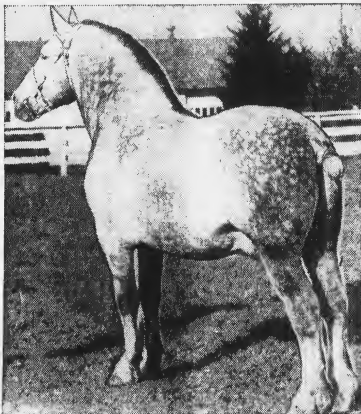

Percheron To Stand In Alberta

ALBERTA Percheron breeders, realizing the tremendous reduction in the draught horse population in Canada and their province, some months ago contacted the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, pointing out that if the present rate of decline continues for six or seven years, Canada would find itself without any draught horses unless something was done to stimulate production.

The breeders asked the Dominion Government to purchase an outstanding Percheron stallion and place him in the province of Alberta, for use on purchased farms, the object being that breeders could produce some top young stallions for future use in the horse industry of the province. Word has just been received that the Department of Production Services, Ottawa, had bought the seven-year-old Percheron stallion, Koncarhope from the Lynwood Farm, Carmel, Indiana, U.S.A.

The stallion will be held at the Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, until the breeding season starts. Alberta breeders will then have to take charge of the horse, and present arrangements are that he will stand for service on a Percheron breeder's farm close to Calgary from April 15 to June 1, to start the season.

After lengthy negotiations the Dominion Department of Agriculture has purchased this outstanding Percheron stallion, Koncarhope.

It's Too Risky

Subscribing for, rather than borrowing, a newspaper may be the most convenient and least troublesome way to get your reading done, according to the following item which appeared recently in the Selma (Alabama) Times Journal.

"A man, too stingy to subscribe to his hometown paper, sent his little boy to borrow a copy from his neighbor. In haste, the boy ran over a stand of beets and, in 10 minutes, he looked like a warty summer squash. His father ran to his assistance and, failing to notice the barbed wire fence, ran into that, ruining a $9 pair of pants.

The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence, got in the corn field and killed herself on the green corn. Hearing the commotion, his wife ran out, upset a four-gallon churn of cream into a basket of little chickens, drowning the entire batch. In her haste, she dropped a $35 set of false teeth.

"The baby, being left alone, crawled through the cream into the parlor, ruining a brand new $50 carpet. During the excitement, the oldest daughter eloped with the hired man, the dog broke up 11 setting hens and the calves got out and chewed the tails off four fine shirts on the clothes line.

"Moral: Don't borrow your neighbor's paper: it's too risky."

Frankly, we are inclined to feel that this man's misfortunes were the exception rather than the general rule. But reports are that he took no more chances. — The Argus Farmer.

FUNNY And OTHERWISE

"Now don't forget," said the choir director, "the tenor will lead the lead until we reach 'those girls of Hell,' then you will all join in."

That new metal, titanium, has the strength of steel although only half the weight of aluminum. Just the thing for a snow shovel for the wife.

"Remember that cheese you sold me yesterday."

"Yes, madam."

"Well, you made a mistake about it. It wasn't imported from Switzerland. It was deposited."

Jack: "I understand your wife came from a fine family."

Mack: "Came is not the correct word—she brought it with her."

Shopwalker: "That customer was hanging around for a long time. What did he want to see?"

Pretty assistant (coyly): "Me, sir."

Slow Waiter: "This coffee is imported from Brazil."

Tired Customer: "Well, what do you know? It's still warm."

"Do you say your prayers every night, Trudy?" asked the minister.

"Oh, no, Mummy says them for me," answered Trudy.

"Indeed; and what does she say?"

"That if God you're in bed!" was the prompt reply.

Generating Plant At Vermilion To Serve 42 Districts

EDMONTON. — The $1 million steam generating plant of Canadian Utilities Ltd. recently opened at Vermilion, will serve 42 communities in northeastern Alberta, through 510 miles of transmission lines.

Turbines and boilers in the plant were used during the war on navy destroyer escorts of Canadian and U.S. ships.

The plant will have an aggregate of 10,000 horsepower, and will rank as the fourth largest steam plant in Alberta. A large part of the load will be from the oil wells in the Vermilion, Lloydminster and Blackfoot areas. Two units each of 2,500 horsepower are in operation and the other two are expected to be ready by June.

Company officials say the company now has 5,000 customers served by the Vermilion plant. It has capacity to handle 10,000 customers, many of whom are expected to be farmers.

THRILLS of the ROARIN' GAME

LEAD—A lowly person, SECOND—A mere man, THIRD—A gentleman AND SKIP—An ideal curlier

The following are the duties of the various members comprising an average rink of curlers, as outlined by an expert:

The Lead—A Lowly Person

This is a very lowly person who throws the first pair of rocks. He is supposed to thank the Deputy once a day in his prayer that he even exists, let alone being allowed to play at bonspiel time. All curlers have served this period of apprenticeship and it is a remarkable fact that 90 per cent. of them have never served long enough. He always addresses the skip as "Sir" and the third man as "Mr." This lead person is expected to see that the four pairs of rocks belonging to his rink are on the ice and cleaned five minutes before the game starts. He must do no less than 75 per cent. of the sweeping, he is expected to keep the skip supplied with cigarettes, and at bonspiel time to purchase at least one bottle of Scotch essence per diem. This is to be consumed by the rest of the rink and the skip of the rink defeated that day, just one drink per defeated skip. He is not even allowed over his hog line. His curling must be perfect or he is blamed for the loss of all games in which his rink suffers defeat. He may tell the second what he thinks about the skip, but no one else. After many years he becomes a skip if he survives the sarcasm of his associates.

The Second Player—"Mere" Man

This person is but a degree removed from the lead. He is expected to do 15 per cent. of the sweeping. He also, as the lead, is expected to keep the skips supplied with cigarettes and the third man with matches. He must on all occasions get the rock he is to pick out otherwise he is blamed for losses of games. His chief duty is to see that the lead does not forget to purchase the bottle for the day, and in case of emergency, to assist the lead in financing the purchase of this article. He is the one who is allowed to insult the lead, the third and skip considering it beneath his dignity to see that the lead does not forget to purchase the bottle for the day, and in case of emergency, to assist the lead in financing the purchase of this article. He is the one who is allowed to insult the lead, the third and skip considering it beneath his dignity to see that the lead does not forget to purchase the bottle for the day, and in case of emergency, to assist the lead in financing the purchase of this article.

The Third Player—A Gentleman

This gentleman is in a class by himself always. He assumes an air of superiority over all the leads and seconds and of more condescension to his skip. He does the remaining 10 per cent. of the sweeping. He holds the broom for the skip to shoot, and invariably tells the skip that he should have tried the shot he, the third man, had chosen and not the one he, the skip, had just missed. He is the person who uses the chalk for putting up all points made by his side (if any). He then gives the skip the occasional eigrette, lends him a match and gives him a lot of unsolicited advice and generally embarrasses and befuddles the skip as much as possible so that when the game is lost he can say with some apparent justification that he should be skipping. This is the highest compliment you can pay a third man, that he should be a skip. They admit it always but they labor on as if waiting to take the game out from under said defeat.

The Skip—An Ideal Curlier

His chief delight and happiest expectation is to have the privilege of the skip as much as possible so that when the game is lost he can say with some apparent justification that he should be skipping. This is the highest compliment you can pay a third man, that he should be a skip. They admit it always but they labor on as if waiting to take the game out from under said defeat.

Mounties Stop The Beaver Poachers

Mr. Beaver shows no respect either to large or small timber.

IN AUGUST, 1942, a man whom we shall call Henry Franks drove by automobile from the Peace River country into Edmonton, Alberta. Well-hidden in the trunk of his car was over a thousand dollars' worth of illegal beaver. When he pulled into the capital city, Henry did not register at a hotel—that might tip off the sleuths of the Game Branch that he was in town, and more than once in the past Henry Franks had tangled with Don Forsland's game wardens, to his financial sorrow.

No; for just a few evenings' work, Henry told himself he could afford to be cagey now. He registered at an auto camp under a fictitious name, and in his cabin he hid the beaver pelts under the mattress of the bed. He drove his car to a garage for overhauling, so that if Edmonton prices didn't suit him he could take the illegal beaver skins still further, across the Rockies to Vancouver.

Henry's first violent surprise came when he walked down First Street and, in a low tone, mentioned beaver to the fur-buyers. "Better than anything in the past," said Henry.

The once-friendly fur dealers weren't a bit interested. In fact, they wished Henry wouldn't talk such business with them any more. "Things are changed," they told Henry. "Forsland has just about made beaver-poaching footproof. If

Buyers Lose Interest

Not believing his own ears and eyes, Henry Franks spent ten days arguing and pleading with one fur-buyer and another, till eventually he realized it was useless. No one in Edmonton would buy his beavers unless they were legal. Therefore, there was only one thing to do: hit over the mountains.

"You guys are making a bogey out of this 'fellow Forsland,'" he said wearily. "Here I've been ten days in town and nothing's happened."

Something did happen when he went to take his car out of the garage. Nemesis descended on him: two of Forsland's men. With a firm smile, they informed Henry that they had been watching the auto court ever since he came to town and checked it at it. They had allowed him his freedom only so that he could prove to himself that he could not sell illegal furs in Alberta any more. His experience cost Mr. Franks a lot, his thousand dollars' worth of beaver pelts were confiscated, and he paid a fine of $100, plus costs.

Says, Don Forsland, when interviewed on the case: "Henry Franks had been warned in the past, but he was one of the hardest of the big-time beaver operators to convince that trafficking in illicit beaver does not pay. Undoubtedly he learned his lesson, for we haven't had any trouble with him since."

Behind that case is an interesting story of excellent conservation work. Not so long ago, illegal trafficking in beaver was one of the most grievous threats to the future of the fur business in Canada.

In areas such as the North West Territories, it was possible for skillful poachers to take out as much as $10,000 worth of illegal fur in a single season. Beavers are unable to conceal their presence, and they are one of the easiest of all animals to trap. In good times, their pelts are worth an average of fifty dollars apiece. Even in the bush country of Saskatchewan, poachers were getting away with as much as $1,000 worth of fur from one small stream by cleaning the beaver out completely.

KITCHEN MEDITATIONS

PARTY LINE

By JANE DALE

Mrs. Samson is my neighbor who lives a mile away all alone in her little house, but you never hear her say she is lonely or downhearted. It would be that way with me. She has her cat, her dog and bird to keep her company. Mrs. Samson knows the gossip of all the neighborhood. Now when she gets to know the news I never understood 'til one day I was sitting in her kitchen warm and bright talking about the weather and prices being a fright. The phone beside the window tinkled one, two and three. Someone on the party line was calling Mrs. Lee.

Mrs. Samson said, "Be quiet I'll just listen in awhile." She heard the conversation; it really made me smile. Again we sat talking when the phone rang one and five. My neighbor listened in again—as sure as you're alive! She heard Tom Jenkins telling his wife he had to stay in town to a curlers meeting and wouldn't be home that day. Twice more while we were talking a party call came through and Mrs. Samson heard each time—I'm telling just what's true. She told me of the baby expected very soon and of Jim Gray's young brother who passed away at noon. She told me bits of gossip not meant for stranger's ears. I heard more news in that hour or two than I'd have learned in years.

Mrs. Samson's never lonely; she has her cat, her dog and bird, AND she listens on the party line and catches every word!
